

I am currently a student at Kansas State University where I am studying Agricultural Economics and Global Food Systems Leadership with a minor in Statistics. Upon graduation I hope to obtain my master's and PhD and pursue a career in Development Economics. I aim to focus my research on India. I am specifically interested in research involving the effect of microfinance on women's empowerment, further research on how collective marketing aids in women's socioeconomic development, and the role of policy in developing programs that promote women's education and agency.
